

Strengthening Metso UK Support team

Adam Benn
Sales, Service and Operations Director

I'm delighted to be back in the UK after nearly 10 years abroad having worked on a number of different projects within Metso.

As Metso UK Sales, Service and Operations Director, I see great opportunity to work closely with our customers to continue the journey towards realizing the potential of their operations.

We have a continuous stream of new technologies and service solutions available that can be tailored to suit the specific needs of a site whilst always striving to exceed the safety and sustainability targets we have in place.

I am pleased to announce that we are strengthening the Technical Support team and would like to introduce Mr. Stuart Towers who has joined Metso UK Ltd as a Technical Support Engineer.

Stuart is a well-respected technician who brings with him 16 years of electro-mechanical experience, and a wealth of knowledge gained from working alongside mobile and fixed plant operations both within Aggregate and Mining operations.

Stuart Towers
Technical Support Engineer

In addition to providing support to our sales and service teams Stuart's role will primarily be focused on providing technical support to Metso's extensive customer base in UK & Ireland to maximise your equipment's up time and operational availability.

You may contact Stuart as well as the rest of the UK and Ireland team under :
